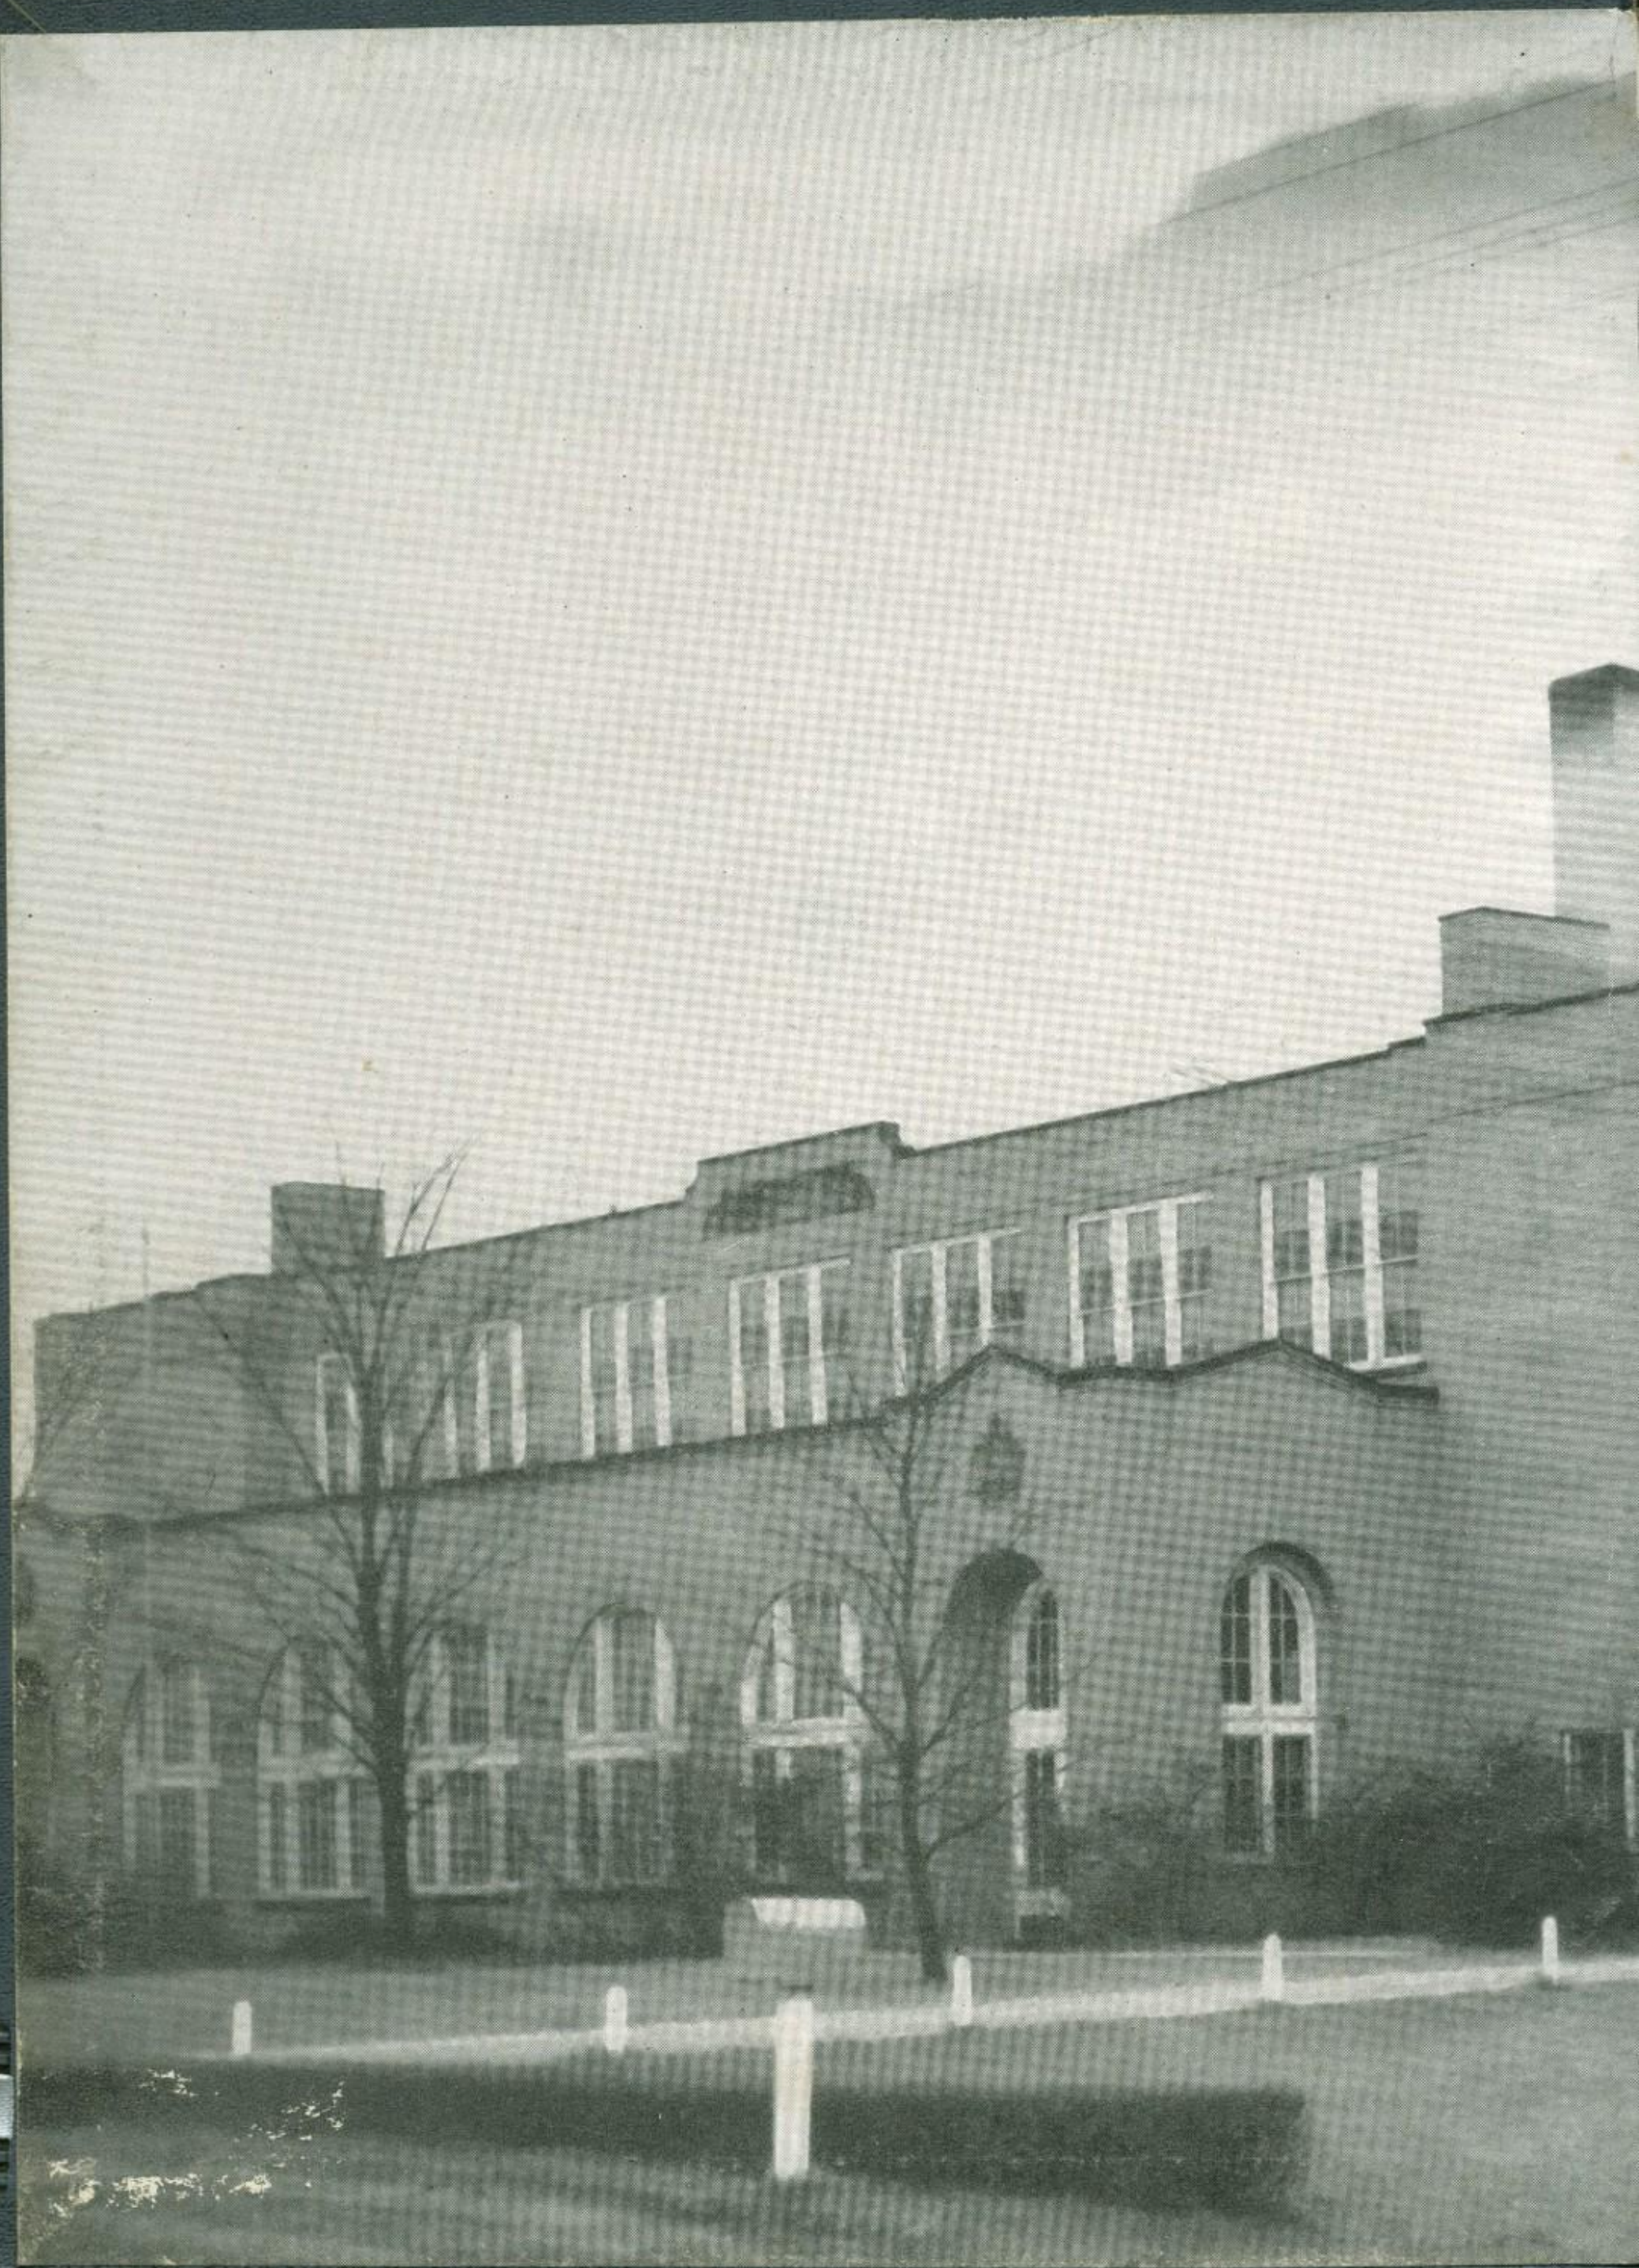
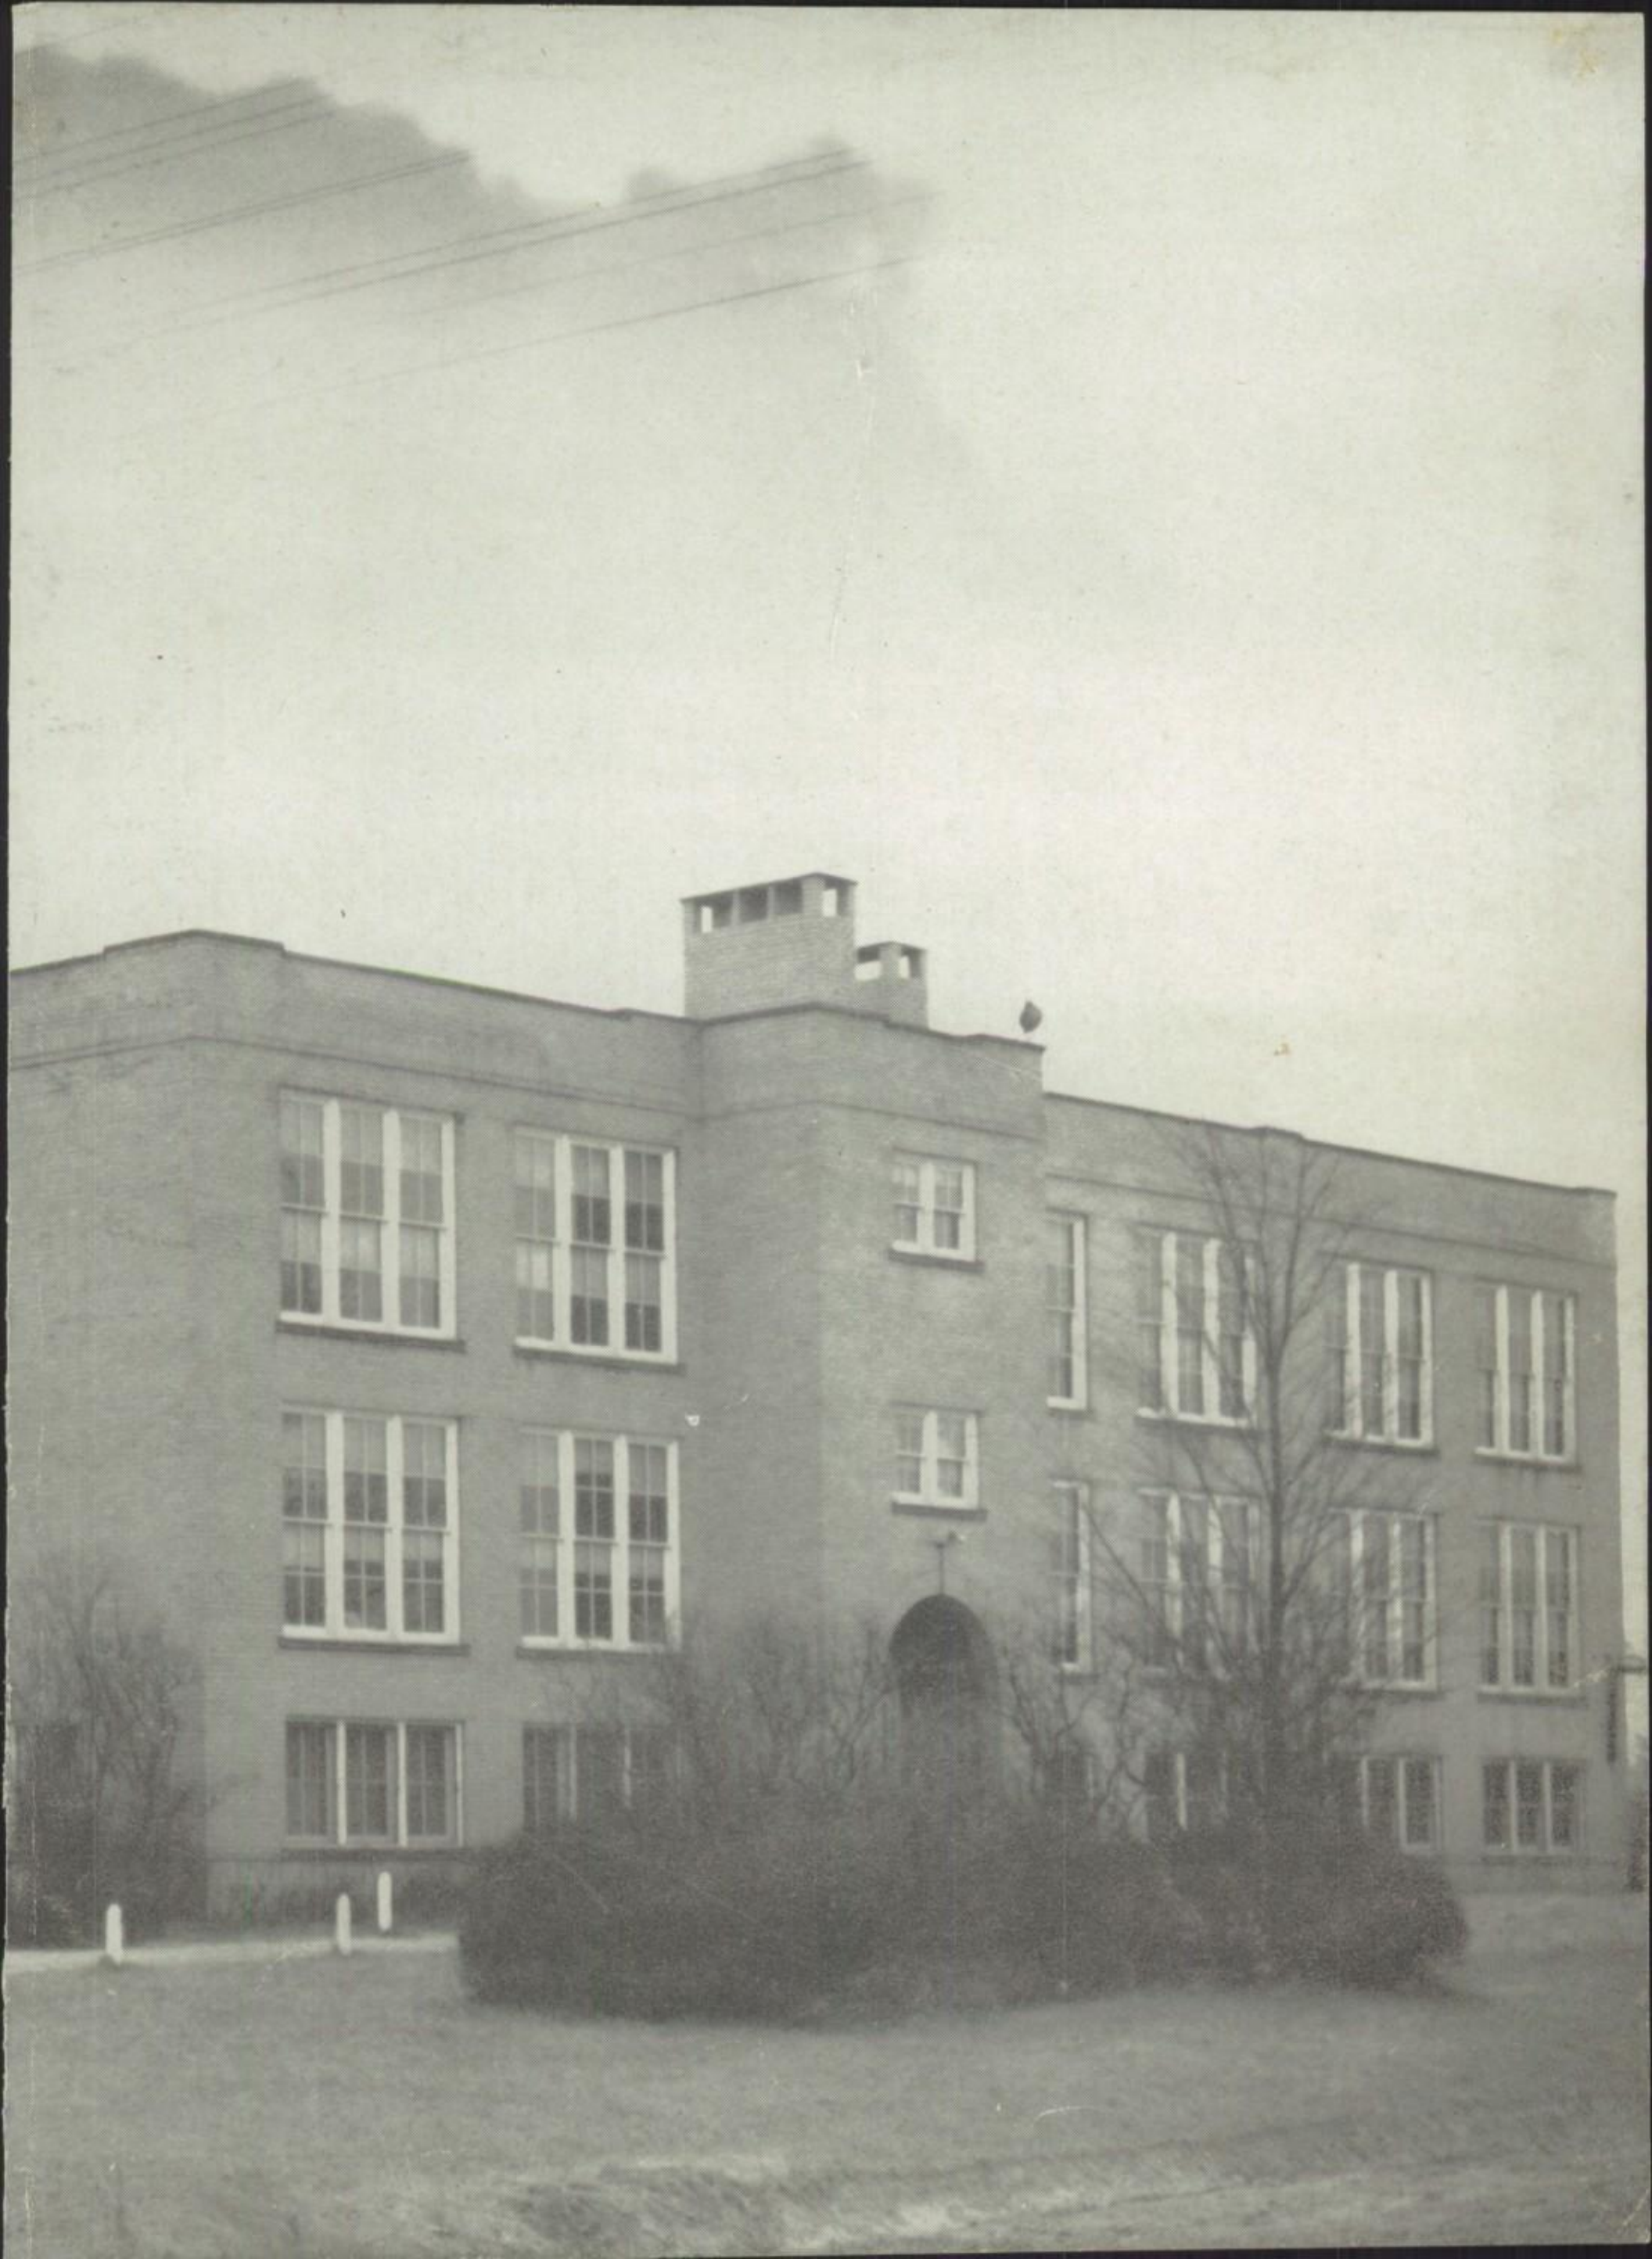
NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY





For many years students of Liberty School have dreamed of a new building — large, well-equipped, and modern. That dream is realized, at least in part.

We, the Class of 1950, proudly dedicate this 1950 edition of the ORACLE to our NEW BUILDING, which is an inspiration to all of us.

May this volume wrap up in these pages the memories of many happy days spent in our new Liberty High School.

We are sorry that we are unable to print a picture of our new building, but the landscaping is not complete.

We are grateful to the voters of Liberty Township for making our new building possible.

To the members of the Liberty Board of Education, we are deeply indebted for the splendid work which they did in planning and supervising the construction of our new building.

Mr. Wheeler became a member January 1, 1950 when Mr. O'Neill's term expired.

Board of Education . . .

Let us now follow our photographer as he takes pictures of our new building. The classes are changing.

We will start with calling upon Mr. Blott; but first we pass through the outer office where Mrs. Helle, office secretary, assisted by Lula Drennen, Pauline Bogovich, and Anna Wahl, are counting cafeteria money.

Here we find Mr. Blott at his desk in his private office. Although he is generally busy as you see him here, he always has time to hear about our troubles as well as our achievements in the various school activities.

In this room, we find the headquarters of our Public Intercommunication System which was financed by our Mothers' Club and the Girls' Athletic Association.

Every American boy and girl can find ample opportunity to earn a full life. That is one of the fine heritages our pioneer forefathers have left to us.

CLASSES

The English Classes are conducted by Mrs. Sebastian, Mrs. Teeter, and Miss Wining.

For our picture, we asked these three to gather in one room.

Literature is an avenue to glory, ever open for those ingenious men who are deprived of honours or of wealth.

Isaac D'Israeli

Our next stop is to the Social Science Room. Here Mrs. Higley and Mrs. Casey have gathered together several of their students.

Yesterday, the greatest question was decided which was ever debated in America; and a greater perhaps, never was, nor will be, decided among men. A resolution was passed without one dissenting colony, that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states.

John Adams—Letter to Mrs. Adams, 1776

Here we find Mr. D'Onofrio conducting a mathematics class, so we brought in the other mathematics teachers—Mr. Cauffield and Mr. Johnson.

Every why hath a wherefore.

Shakespeare

Mrs. Teeter teaches our Latin classes and Miss Wining our French classes.

He who is ignorant of foreign languages knows not his own.

Goethe

Nullum est jam dictum quad non dictum sit prius.

Terrance - Eunuchus

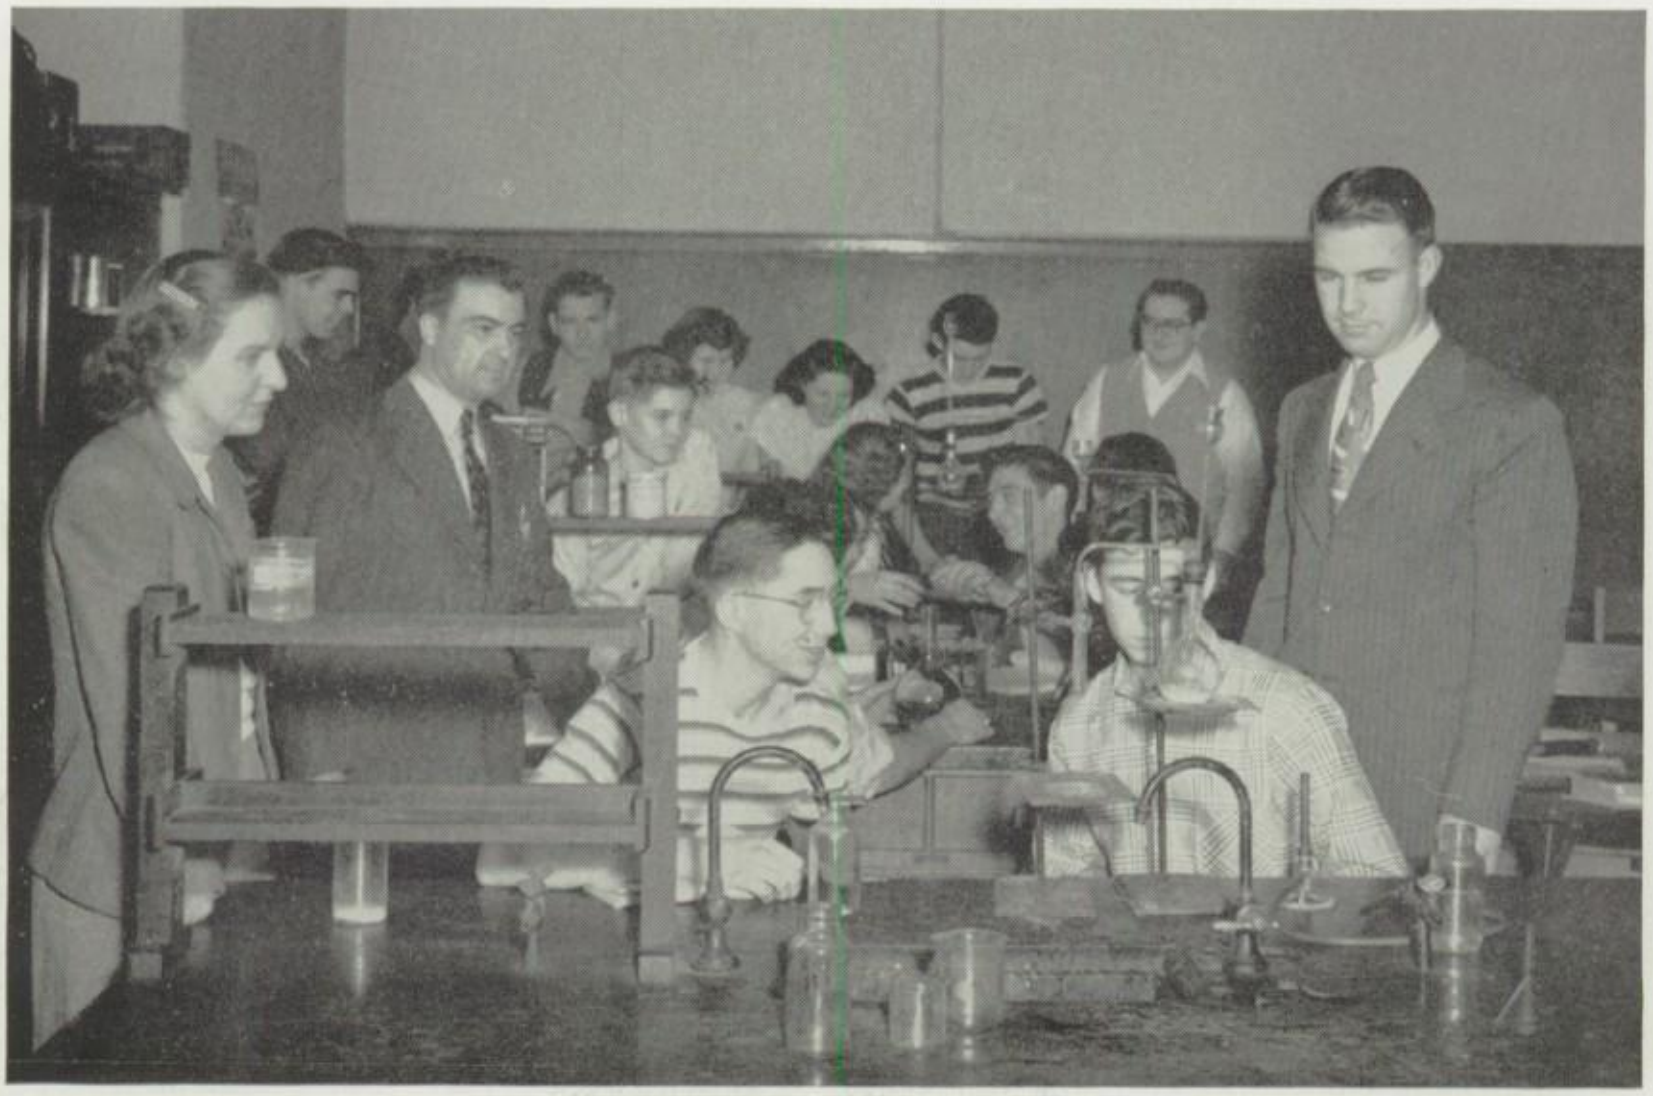
The science room in our new building will not be ready for use until next fall. Here we see Mr. Johnson, Mr. D'Onofrio, and Miss Faust, and a group of science students.



Science and art belong to the whole world, and before them vanish the barriers of nationality.

Goethe

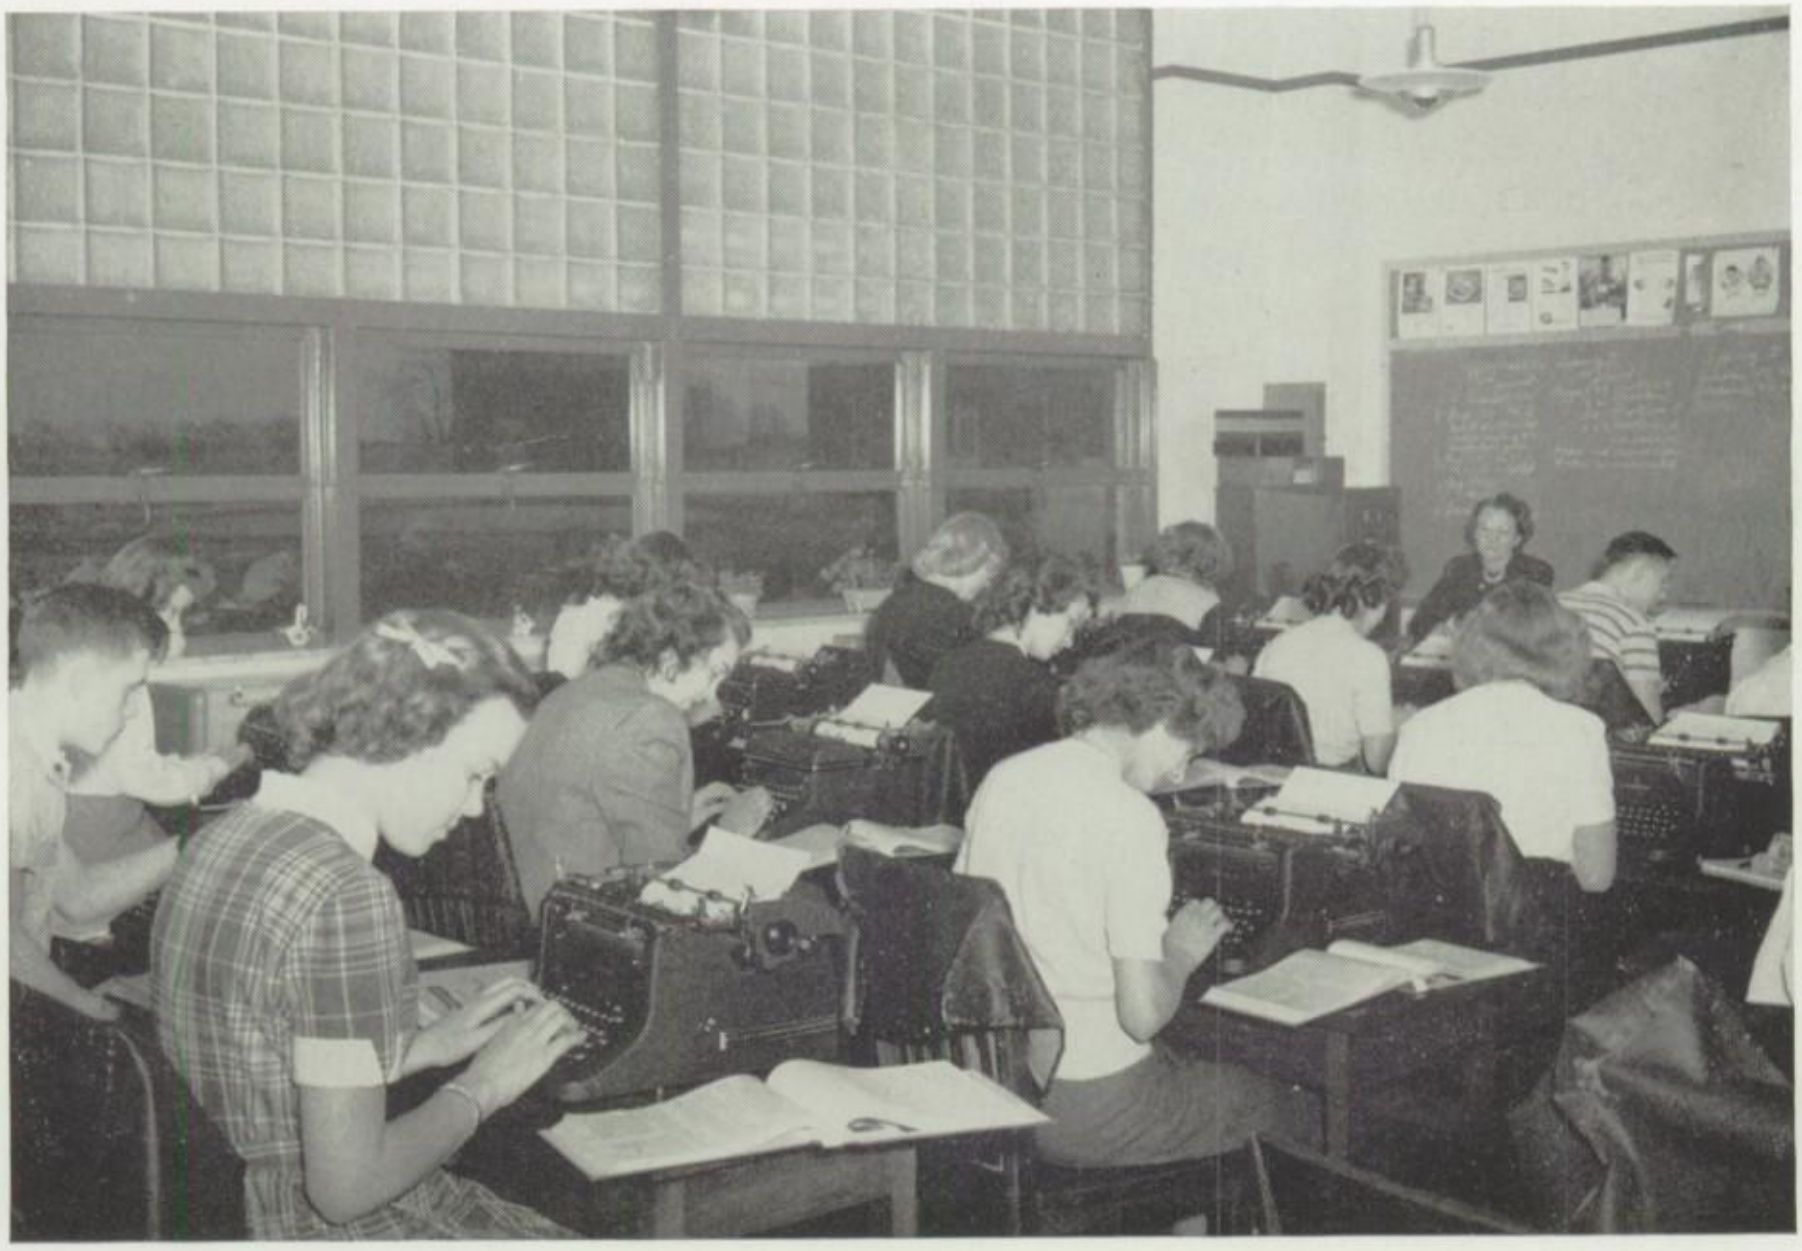
Beginning typists are seen here. This room is also used for transcription classes, office practice, and the mimeographing of the LIBERTY BELL.



"Write your letter somewhat better
Than all other things you do,
Write it neatly and discreetly,
Have it brief, yet ample too;
Write it brightly, but politely,
Make it human through and through."

Opdycke

Home Economics today is education for home and family life; and the curriculum is built around the activities, needs, and interests of all phases of home living.

As we open the door and step inside the Home Economics Department, our eye is caught by the homelike atmosphere. The severe, laboratory atmosphere is a thing of the past.

The Foods Room sets the pattern for the modern home kitchen. Six "L" —shaped kitchens done in bone ivory and sea crest green provide every possible need for the small family group of pupils assigned to them. Some of the features that make kitchen work easier include: three-inch recessed toe space on all base unite; shelves that glide out as the cabinet door is opened thus eliminating stooping and reaching; dust-proof drawers; wall cupboards with shelves adjustable to one inch spacings; linoleum tops with raised edges on stainless steel banding to prevent spilled liquids from running over on cabinets and floors; and a back splash to protect kitchen walls. Both gas and electric ranges are used. To add a decorative touch what-not shelves are placed by the sinks. Here in this ideal Foods Room menu planning, food preparation and serving, table manners, party food, nutrition, consumer buying, kitchen planning, and the selection and arrangement of equipment are studied.

From the Foods Room we enter the well-lighted and well-equipped Clothing Room. Important is the system of individual drawers, interchangeable from sewing case compartments to table compartments, which has greatly lessened the confusion in large clothing classes. Besides practical construction, the selection and care of clothing and household fabrics is studied. Attention is also given to problems of consumer buying and fashion trends.

HOME ECONOMICS

Mrs. Harold Turner

A popular place, made possible under the new building program of 1949, is the school cafeteria, managed by Mrs. Harold Turner. It is second to none in this part of the state. It has a seating capacity of 200 students and is furnished with the most modern equipment.

The cafeteria is approved by the state for serving a class A luncheon, which will provide from one-third to one-half of a student's daily nutritional requirements.

The number of lunches served has averaged about 550 a day. The cafeteria is able to serve an excellent lunch at the low price of $1 a week because the state furnishes a subsidy of seven cents for each lunch with milk, and five cents for a lunch without the milk.

In addition to the subsidy, the federal government donates some surplus commodities which enrich the school lunches without adding anything to their cost.

The cafeteria has operated on the principle that it has an educational as well as a nutritional duty to perform. An attempt has been made to teach children to eat a wider variety of wholesome food than they might have learned to eat at home. Their parents have generally appreciated the more universal tastes that the cafeteria has developed.

CAFETERIA

The Industrial Arts rooms are in the old building. Here we see Mr. Wheeler with some of his boys.

You are to be envied among all the men on earth.

Yours is a great country.

Yours is a fine community.

You are living in the most thrilling period of our history.

Great things are in store for you.

You can choose what road you will follow toward happiness at home and at work. The right road is ahead of you, if you find it and follow it.

It is up to you.

You are a free American.

On Tuesday, February 14, Valentine's Day, 1950, the Senior Class held the annual Senior-Parent night in the school's new cafeteria. Homer Rush was toastmaster. Alan Deeley introduced the teachers and started the introducing of parents in which the whole class participated. Mrs. O'Neill and Mrs. Higley gave the responses.

Mrs. England gave a reading of "Percy" which was really good. Reverend George Van Wingerden was the guest speaker and he showed us a few of his many beautiful slides. Everyone enjoyed his pictures and his jokes.

There was lots of food, and the tables were decorated by some of the senior girls. Joanne and Joyce did a splendid job on the favors. The tables were taken care of by the senior boys.

After the pictures, the tables were put back and dishes were done, while dancing was in the gym.

Dorothy Negro and her committee did an excellent job in the serving and in the planning of the food.

Ice Follies

The air was full of excitement on that January 21, 1950. The big day had arrived! The Freshman and Sophomore Classes were going to Cleveland for the day.

We started out at eleven in the morning from school on a chartered McDonald bus. Everyone piled on. After the seats were all filled, the aisle became occupied — there were small folding seats, of course. No one being left behind, we began our journey.

The singing began weakly, but by the time Parkman, the only stop on the way, was reached the voices were strong with song. At Parkman, everyone dashed to get a coke, milkshake, or sandwich in the tiny restaurant. After gulping this down, we got on the bus and were once more on our way.

Soon we pulled up in front of the arena and made our way to our seats. With a half-hour before show time, most of us walked around and nibbed; others just sat and talked and admired the huge arena.

At 2:15 the show began. The costumes of the skaters were magnificent in style and color. Each act was different from the others. Some skaters drew silence from the onlookers with the difficulty of their feats. During one of these features the drums began to roll, silence reigned, and then . . . CRUNCH! It was only Jimmy Mealy breaking open a peanut! This went on for the remainder of the superb show and at the end we made our departure from the arena.

From the arena we went directly to Mill's Restaurant, one of a chain of huge cafeterias, where everyone with whetted appetites stared longingly at the wide variety of food offered. With much difficulty everyone carried his tray of chosen food to his table and dived in.

Once again we climbed into the bus and were off. (Please no comments!)

We sang and talked about everything we had done. Again we stopped at Parkman enroute and gulped cokes.

We arrived at the school about 8:45 P. M. very tired and very happy and most hopeful that we might make the trip again next year—that is, if Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian, Mr. and Mrs. Helle, our chaperones, would recommend us to others as good little boys and girls so that they would be willing to go along with us, or even better go with us themselves.

Class of 50

We are the Senior Class of "50."
And we think we are pretty nifty.

Starting way back in thirty-eight.
Learning to draw on the slate.
Learning to count to ten,
When we would, we wondered when.

Nine months later entering the second,
Would we make the grade? Well, I reckon.

And up through all the years
Third, fourth, fifth, and sixth,
Now we were learning all the tricks,
And we wondered, what would come next.

Next year Junior High with our crew,
Changing classes was something really new.

During high school we lost our recess,
And we were always getting into a mess.

Slowly we are making the incline,
Grades seven, eight, and nine,
Now finally, we are freshmen,
To graduate was our only yen.

Inside was the groans, growls, and snorts,
Outside we were very interested in sports.

Again we go, freshmen, sophomores, and juniors,
And now, for the candy table we were the leaders.
So now it's time for our first prom, and what a time
We really thought we were in our prime.

At the end of the year we found we would succeed,
To the Senior Class we would proceed.

Toward the end of the year,
We had found we were getting near.
So to Liberty High which we loved so well,
We now give our hearty FAREWELL.

—JACK HAFELY
